Community Leaders,

Today, Mayor Garcetti and the leadership at the Los Angeles Department of Transportation (LADOT) released a Strategic Plan for the department entitled "Great Streets for Los Angeles."

You can find a copy of the plan at the link below:

The plan outlines the department's proposed work plan, centered around the concept that Great Streets encapsulate the vision for a 21st Century transportation system, that provides better choices and supports the economy by connection places and creating public spaces.

We are excited to continue to work with the department to move this forward. A write-up from the Los Angeles Daily News also summarizes the plan, found at the link below.
